About the Author

Sascha Helbardt is a lecturer for Southeast Asian Studies at the University of Passau, Germany. He is currently completing his post-doctoral research of media and social change. Trained in Southeast Asian Studies, Political Science and Anthropology at the Humboldt-Universität/Freie Universität Berlin, he has published on media in Southeast Asia, social movements as well as the violent conflicts in Southern Thailand, Myanmar and Sri Lanka.