Bibliography

Breazeale, Kennon (1999). “Thai Maritime Trade and the Ministry Responsible”. In
From Japan to Arabia: Ayutthaya’s Maritime Relations with Asia, edited by idem. Bangkok: Foundation for the Promotion of Social Sciences and Humanities Textbooks Project, pp. 1–54.
Chitrasing Piyachat (2009). Prawatisat songkhram thai rop khamen [History of the Wars Between the Thai and the Khmer]. Bangkok: Yip Si.

Falkus, Malcolm (2010). “Bangkok in the Nineteenth and Twentieth Centuries: The Dynamics and Limits of Port Primacy”. In Gateways of Asia: Port Cities of Asia

Julisphong Chularatana (2003). Khunnang krom tha khwa [Nobles of the Western Trade Department]. Bangkok: Chulalongkorn University, Faculty of History.

Phum, Khun (1922 [1869]). Nirat wang bang yi-khan [Elegy on the Bang Yi-khan Palace Community]. Bangkok: Sophonpiphit.

BIBLIOGRAPHY

Samai Charoenchang (2012). Yon roi ... muslim siam [Tracing Back ... the Muslims of Siam]. Bangkok: Foundation for the Development of Young People for Leadership.

——— (2004). “Lum nam maeklong mi khon yut hin pen banaphachan khun yut pachuban” [The Meklong River Basin had Stone Age People Who Were the Stengs, Irene (2009). Worshipping the Great Modernizer: King Chulalongkorn, Patron Saint of the Thai Middle Class. Singapore: National University of Singapore.

Thailand, Royal Railway Department (n.d. [1903?]). Tiraloek chalong sathapana thang rotfai pak tai [Souvenir of the Inauguration of the (First Stage of the) Southern Railway Line]. Bangkok.

Thipakosa, Maha Amat Tri Phraya (Son Lohanan) (1985 [1930]). Prawat somdet phra phuthachan to phromrangsi [Biography of Somdet Phra Phuthachan (To Phromrangsi)]. Bangkok.

BIBLIOGRAPHY

Wat Sangkrachai (1990). Prawat wat sangkrachai [History of Wat Sangkrachai].

Printed on the occasion of the visit of Princess Maha Chakri Sirindhorn. Bangkok.

