Non-Traditional Security Issues in ASEAN

The ISEAS – Yusof Ishak Institute (formerly Institute of Southeast Asian Studies) is an autonomous organization established in 1968. It is a regional centre dedicated to the study of socio-political, security, and economic trends and developments in Southeast Asia and its wider geostrategic and economic environment. The Institute's research programmes are grouped under Regional Economic Studies (RES), Regional Strategic and Political Studies (RSPS), and Regional Social and Cultural Studies (RSCS). The Institute is also home to the ASEAN Studies Centre (ASC), the Singapore APEC Study Centre, and the Temasek History Research Centre (THRC).

ISEAS Publishing, an established academic press, has issued more than 2,000 books and journals. It is the largest scholarly publisher of research about Southeast Asia from within the region. ISEAS Publishing works with many other academic and trade publishers and distributors to disseminate important research and analyses from and about Southeast Asia to the rest of the world.

Rajaratnam School of International Studies (RSIS), Nanyang Technological University (NTU), Singapore. Prof Anthony teaches courses on Non-Traditional Security in Asia and Security Governance. She is also currently Chair of the RSIS Committee on Promotion and Tenure.

Prof Anthony's research interests include regionalism and multi-lateralism in the Asia Pacific, human security and non-traditional security, conflict prevention and global governance. She has published extensively on a broad range of security issues in the Asia Pacific in peer-reviewed journals and international academic press. Her latest books, both single-authored and co-edited, include: Negotiating Governance on Non-Traditional Security in Southeast Asia and Beyond (2018), An Introduction to Non-Traditional Security Studies (2016), Asia on the Move (2015), and Human Security and Climate Change (2014).

Rini ASTUTI is Research Fellow in the Inter-Asia Engagements cluster of Asia Research Institute (ARI), National University of Singapore. She obtained her PhD in Geography from Victoria University of Wellington, New Zealand. Prior to joining ARI, Dr Astuti was a Research Fellow with the S. Rajaratnam School of International Studies, Nanyang Technological University, Singapore. Her research interests focus on sustainable governance of transboundary environmental problems in Southeast Asia.

Christopher CHEN is an Associate Research Fellow at the Centre for Non-Traditional Security (NTS) Studies at the S. Rajaratnam School of International Studies (RSIS), Nanyang Technological University (NTU), Singapore. He obtained a Master of International Relations and a Bachelor of Arts (Media & Communication and Politics & International Studies) from the University of Melbourne (UniMelb), Australia. He currently specializes in the area of humanitarian assistance and disaster relief. His research interests include Humanitarian Assistance and Disaster Relief (HADR) in the Asia Pacific; institutional memory; human rights in Asia; forced migration; politics and conflicts in the Asia Pacific.

Alistair D.B. COOK is Coordinator of the Humanitarian Assistance and Disaster Relief Programme and Senior Fellow at the Centre for Non-Traditional Security (NTS) Studies at the S. Rajaratnam School of International Studies (RSIS), Nanyang Technological University (NTU), Singapore. His research interests focus on the Asia Pacific, and Myanmar in particular, on humanitarian affairs, foreign policy and regional cooperation. He has recently authored or co-authored “Achieving the ASEAN 2025 Vision for Disaster Management: Lessons from a Worthy Journey”, ASEAN Risk Monitor and Disaster Management Review (2019); “Integrating Disaster Governance in Timor-Leste: Opportunities and Challenges”, International Journal of Disaster Risk Reduction (2019); “Negotiating Access to Populations of Concern in Southeast Asia”, Pacific Review (2018); “An Assessment of International Emergency Disaster Response to the 2015 Nepal Earthquakes”, International Journal of Disaster Risk Reduction (2018); “Humanitarian Technology Survey”, RSIS Policy Report (2017); and co-edited Irregular Migration and Human Security in East Asia (2017); Civilian Protection in the Twenty-First Century: Governance and Responsibility in a Fragmented World (2016); and Non-Traditional Security in Asia: Issues, Challenges and Framework for Action (2013).

Yen Ne FOO is a National Project Coordinator at the International Labour Organization (ILO). She has a Masters in International Relations from the S. Rajaratnam School of International Studies (RSIS), Nanyang Technological University (NTU), Singapore. Her areas of expertise include labour migration, gender equality and elimination of violence against women. Prior to her work at the ILO, she was a Senior Analyst at the Centre for Non-Traditional Security Studies, RSIS, researching on humanitarian assistance and disaster relief in the ASEAN region.

Lina GONG is Research Fellow at the Centre for Non-Traditional Security (NTS) Studies at the S. Rajaratnam School of International Studies (RSIS), Nanyang Technological University (NTU), Singapore. She received her PhD from RSIS, NTU. Her PhD thesis is on China's engagement with the UN peacekeeping. Her research interests include non-traditional security studies in East Asia, China and global governance, peace and conflict. She currently focuses on China-ASEAN cooperation in non-traditional security issues and disaster management in Southeast Asia and the broad Asia-Pacific region.

Jose Ma. Luis ("Louie") MONTESCLAROS is Associate Research Fellow at the Centre for Non-Traditional Security (NTS) Studies at the S. Rajaratnam School of International Studies (RSIS), Nanyang Technological University (NTU), Singapore. He holds a Master's Degree in Public Policy from the Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy, National University of Singapore (Full ASEAN Scholar) and a BS Economics degree from the University of the Philippines, Diliman. Louie conducts policy analysis using dynamic models of food security, climate change and urban agriculture in Singapore and Southeast Asia, and was also one of the two modellers in a major project with the Singapore government's Inter-Ministerial Committee on Food Security. He also co-developed (First Inventor) a preliminary commercial viability assessment tool for climate-adaptive agricultural technologies, contributing to NTU's pool of copyrighted intellectual property. He has, in the past, consulted with the World Bank Group on agriculture, small and medium enterprise development and ASEAN's inclusive growth. He has also co-facilitated the development and assessment of long-term plans of over ten cities, two municipalities and a national association of cities in the Philippines, using the Performance Governance System, an adaptation of the Balanced Scorecard.

Margareth SEMBIRING is an Associate Research Fellow at the Centre for Non-Traditional Security (NTS) Studies at the S. Rajaratnam School of International Studies (RSIS), Nanyang Technological University (NTU), Singapore. Her focus is on transboundary environmental and climate change-related issues, particularly in Southeast Asia. She examines regional and national mechanisms put in place to address these issues. At the same time, she is undertaking a PhD study that assesses energy transition from fossil fuels to renewable energy sources in the Philippines and Indonesia.

Julius Cesar I. TRAJANO is Research Fellow with the Centre for Non-Traditional Security (NTS) Studies at the S. Rajaratnam School of International Studies (RSIS), Nanyang Technological University (NTU), Singapore.
