SUBMISSIONS

Contributions for articles are invited. Articles should be of contemporary economic interest, with special reference to ASEAN or its member countries. Each article should be between 3,500 and 5,000 words in length. The article should also be of an acceptable standard of English (i.e., it should be clear and comprehensible). The presentation should be scholarly, but with tables, citations, footnotes and quotations kept at the minimum essential for the analysis or descriptions intended. It should be accompanied by an abstract of approximately 120 words. Electronic submissions would be preferred and should be sent to: aeb@iseas.edu.sg. Alternatively, articles can be sent by post, in duplicate, together with a copy on diskette to:

The Co-Editors
ASEAN Economic Bulletin
Institute of Southeast Asian Studies
30 Heng Mui Keng Terrace, Pasir Panjang
Singapore 119614

For more information, please contact the co-editors at e-mail: aeb@iseas.edu.sg

ANNUAL SUBSCRIPTION RATES 2002

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th>Individuals (Print &amp; Electronic)</th>
<th>Institutions (Print &amp; Electronic)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Asia, Japan, Australia, New Zealand</td>
<td>US$49</td>
<td>US$72</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Europe, North and South America, Africa, Middle East</td>
<td>US$62</td>
<td>US$90</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Singapore, Malaysia, Brunei</td>
<td>S$55</td>
<td>S$69</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

These annual rates include electronic document delivery as well as the printed copy by air.

Correspondence concerning subscriptions should be addressed to:

The Managing Editor
Institute of Southeast Asian Studies
30 Heng Mui Keng Terrace, Pasir Panjang
Singapore 119614
Fax: (65) 6775-6259 E-mail: pubsunit@iseas.edu.sg

ELECTRONIC ACCESS

The contents page of the current issue as well as the article abstracts are available on-line at the ISEAS Publications Unit website at http://www.iseas.edu.sg/pub.html. The electronic version of this journal is free to all subscribers. Access to the electronic version is by User ID and password for individual subscribers. Institutional subscribers are bound by terms and conditions. Electronic Document Delivery service is also available to non-subscribers at S$10.20/US$6.00 per article. For more information, access http://www.iseas.edu.sg/pub.html and click on “Journals”.

BACK ISSUES

Electronic version: All back issues since 1984 are now available in electronic form. Single articles, single issues, or complete volumes may be purchased by writing to publish@iseas.edu.sg.

Print version: Single issues are available at S$32/US$30 per issue, plus postage. Complete sets of back issues may also be obtained from Schmidt Periodicals GmbH, Ortsteil Dettendorf, D-83075 Bad Feilnbach, Germany (Tel: 80 64-221, Fax: 80 64-557).

INDEXING

The ASEAN Economic Bulletin is indexed in the Business Source Elite; Corporate ResourceNet; EconLit; Expanded Academic ASAP; InfoTrac Custom Journals; Ingenta; International Bibliography of Book Reviews of Scholarly Literature (IBR) Print/Online/CD-ROM; International Bibliography of Periodical Literature (IBZ), Print/Online/CD-ROM; Journal of Economic Literature; OneFile; PAIS International; ProQuest Information and Learning; South-East Asia Product Database; and World Affairs Online.

PUBLISHED BY THE INSTITUTE OF SOUTHEAST ASIAN STUDIES, SINGAPORE

©2002 ISEAS

Reprint permission may be obtained by writing to the Managing Editor at the above address or to publish@iseas.edu.sg

World Wide Web: http://www.iseas.edu.sg/pub.html

The responsibility for facts and opinions presented in the articles rests exclusively with the individual authors. Their interpretations do not necessarily reflect the views or the policy of the Editorial Committee, the International Advisory Committee, the sponsors of the ASEAN Economic Bulletin, or the Institute of Southeast Asian Studies.

Printed in Singapore by CMO Image Printing Enterprise

© 2002 Institute of Southeast Asian Studies, Singapore
Contents

Articles

New Regionalism in East Asia: How Does It Relate to the East Asian Economic Development Model?
CHARLES HARVIE and HYUN-HOON LEE 123

International R&D Spillovers and Trade Expansion: Evidence from East Asian Economies
MISA OKABE 141

Services and Economic Growth in ASEAN Economies
AZMAT GANI and MICHAEL D. CLEMES 155

The Viability of Fiscal Policy in South Korea, Taiwan, and Thailand
TSANGYAO CHANG, WEN RONG LIU, and HENRY THOMPSON 170

Is There a Real TFP Growth Measure for Malaysia’s Manufacturing Industries?
RENUKA MAHADEVAN 178

Temporal Causality between the Malaysian Stock Price and Stock-indexed Futures Market amid the Selective Capital Controls Regime
JUAT-HONG TAN 191

Documentation

Globalization’s Challenge to Regional Economic Integration. Symposium on AFTA and Beyond,
Manila, 30 May 2002 204
ASEAN and Germany — Natural Partners.
Deutsches Forum Jakarta,
Jakarta, 30 April 2002 207

The ASEAN Free Trade Area: Reaching Its Target.
AFTA 2002 Symposium,
Jakarta, 31 January 2002 211

Book Reviews
The Elusive Quest for Growth: Economists’ Adventures and Misadventures in the Tropics, by William Easterly.
Reviewed by Hal Hill 213

Rethinking the East Asian Miracle, edited by Joseph E. Stiglitz and Shahid Yusuf.
Reviewed by Denis Hew 217

Rethinking Development in East Asia: From Illusory Miracle to Economic Crisis, edited by Pietro P. Masina.
Reviewed by William E. Worner 218

Reviewed by Renuka Mahadevan 220

Financial Big Bang in Asia, edited by Masayoshi Tsurumi.
Reviewed by Sakulrat Montreevat 221

International Production Networks in Asia: Rivalry or Riches? edited by Michael Borrus, Dieter Ernst, and Stephan Haggard.
Reviewed by Nick J. Freeman 223

Reviewed by Dimitrios Konstadakopulos 224

Reviewed by Arnab Gupta 227
IN MEMORIAM
Heinz Wolfgang Arndt, 1915–2002

With the passing of Heinz Arndt, Australia and Southeast Asia have lost a prodigiously productive and influential academic economist, a pioneer of Australia’s engagement with Southeast Asia, an inspiring teacher and researcher, and one of Australia’s truly remarkable public intellectuals.

His life was diverse, engaged and fulfilled. Born in Breslau in 1915, he spent most of his childhood in Germany. In 1933 his father, also an academic, was dismissed by the Nazi regime and the family migrated to England. There followed study at Oxford and the London School of Economics, and an academic appointment at Manchester. His major intellectual achievement over this period, and the first of many books, was his classic study The Economic Lessons of the Nineteen Thirties (1944), a book to which reference was still made half a century later.

In 1946, Heinz accepted an offer of a senior lectureship at the University of Sydney, and he and his young family arrived in Australia for a “two- to three-year stint”, as he put it in his delightful memoir, A Course through Life (1985). Five years later, he took up the foundation chair of Economics at the then Canberra University College.

Most of his first two decades of academic life in Australia were devoted to work on the Australian economy, and he quickly became the leading authority on money and banking, making contributions in other fields as well. In 1963, at the invitation of Sir John Crawford, he took up a research chair at the Australian National University (ANU) and with it, an entirely new endeavour. Recognizing the importance of the Asia-Pacific region well before it entered the mainstream, he pioneered the study of Indonesian economic development in this country. In what to some appeared a hopelessly ambitious (indeed reckless) initiative, he established the ANU’s Indonesian Economy Project. In 1964, he undertook the first of more than fifty visits to that country, the most recent being in April. In 1964, Sukarno’s Indonesia was in disarray and economics as a formal discipline hardly existed, but that did not deter him. The project, including its journal, Bulletin of Indonesian Economic Studies (now in its thirty-eighth year of continuous publication) flourished.

In “retirement” from 1981, he was just as active and, freed of a heavy administrative load, even more productive. For several years he chaired a major research programme on ASEAN–Australia economic relations. In 1986, he established another significant international journal, Asian–Pacific Economic Literature, and had continued to serve as its very active editor for the life of the journal. He also published several books, including some of his collected papers, and travelled frequently.

In his academic life, Heinz Arndt was both a visionary and a practical builder. He loved teaching, and supervising graduate students. He was also a liberal, humane, kind, and tolerant man who believed fiercely in poverty eradication in the Third World, and in social justice. He moved effortlessly between and among societies, seemingly just as happy at high-level international conferences as playing animated games of chess on the streets of Jakarta.

He received numerous medals, awards, and prizes both in Australia and Indonesia. An ANU chair has been named in his honour. Heinz’s wife, Ruth, whom he married in 1941, and who was also prominent and active in Canberra circles and beyond, died last year.

He is survived by his three children, Bettina, Christopher, and Nicholas, nine grandchildren, and one great grandchild.

Ross Garnaut and Hal Hill

Heinz Arndt has been closely associated with the Institute of Southeast Asian Studies (ISEAS) for many years. He was an active member of the ASEAN Economic Bulletin’s international advisory committee from 1998 to 2001. In December 1998, he co-edited a special focus issue of the journal with Hal Hill entitled “Southeast’s Economic Crisis: Origins, Lessons, and the Way Forward”. ISEAS extends its deepest condolences and sympathies.

Co-editors of the ASEAN Economic Bulletin