Asian Journal of Political Science

The Asian Journal of Political Science is a refereed publication of the Department of Political Science, the National University of Singapore. It is published twice a year, in June and December, by Times Academic Press for the Department. The first issue was published in June 1993.

The journal publishes articles in the four subfields of political science, namely political theory, comparative politics, international relations and public administration. As the name indicates, the journal focuses on Asia.

Articles in the latest issue (Vol. 2, No. 2, December 1994) include:
Southeast Asian Chinese and the Development of China, Wang Gungwu
The Foreign Policy of the People's Republic of China: A Balance-Sheet, Robert A. Scalapino
The Rise and Fall of "Reformist Governments": Hosokawa and Hata, 1993-1994, Takashi Inoguchi
Civil Service Reform in China, John Burns

All correspondence regarding editorial matters should be directed to The Editor, Asian Journal of Political Science, Department of Political Science, National University of Singapore, Kent Ridge, Singapore 0511. Fax: (65) 779-6815.

PEACE, SECURITY & GLOBAL CHANGE

Pacific Review is a new and exciting journal which seeks to make sense of a rapidly transforming world. Its primary focus is peace, security and global change. It brings together the perspectives of leading scholars and practitioners from around the world, and particularly from Asia Pacific. Pacific Review cultivates a multidisciplinary perspective and aims to establish connections between the local, national, international and transnational levels of organisation. Pacific Review provides a forum for normative, analytical and empirical approaches to the study of peace and security.

November/December 1994:

Special Issue: Culture and Conflict Management in Asia Pacific
Guest Editor: Kevin P. Clements

Including:
Conflict and Conflict Resolution in the Asia Pacific Region: Culture, Problem Solving and Peacemaking by Kevin P. Clements

Human Rights, Cultural Diversity and Conflict Resolution: The Asia Pacific Context by Joseph A. Camilleri

Culture, Democracy and Political Conflict Management in Asia and the Pacific: An Agenda for Research by Stephanie Lawson

Dispute Systems Design: A Pragmatic Approach for the Development of Procedures and Structures to Manage Ethnic and Political Conflicts by Christopher W. Moore

It is with great pleasure that I renew my subscription to Periodica Islamica. The four volumes so far have provided me with valuable information. I am particularly happy to see what many consider to be very marginal publications... Best wishes in all your travails.

Periodica Islamica is an international contents journal. In its quarterly issues it reproduces tables of contents from a wide variety of serials, periodicals and other recurring publications worldwide. These primary publications are selected for indexing by Periodica Islamica on the basis of their significance for religious, cultural, socioeconomic and political affairs of the Muslim World.

Periodica Islamica is the premiere source of reference for all multi-disciplinary discourses on the world of Islam. Browsing through an issue of Periodica Islamica is like visiting your library 100 times over. Four times a year, in a highly compact format, it delivers indispensable information on a broad spectrum of disciplines explicitly or implicitly related to Islamic issues.

Contemporary Southeast Asia is a journal that specializes in the politics, international relations and security-related issues of Southeast Asia and its wider geopolitical environment. Although it was originally conceived as a more general journal of the social sciences in 1979, CSEA has come to focus more closely on the concerns of the Institute's Regional Strategic Studies Programme since 1987. Apart from serving as a reliable and up-to-date source of information on various events and trends in regional politics, international relations and security questions that affect Southeast Asia, CSEA also publishes the results of original research on these subjects by both scholars and other interested persons.
