

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Asad-ul Iqbal Latif is a Visiting Research Fellow at the Institute of Southeast Asian Studies (ISEAS) in Singapore. His areas of research include Singapore's political and strategic relations with China, India and the United States. His books are Three Sides in Search of a Triangle: Singapore-America-India Relations (2009), India in the Making of Singapore (2008), and Between Rising Powers: China, Singapore and India (2007).

Mr Latif graduated with Honours in English from Presidency College, Calcutta, and received his Master of Letters degree in History at Clare Hall, Cambridge University, where he was Raffles (Chevening) and S. Rajaratnam Scholar. He was a member of the President's Committee of the Cambridge Union Society, the university debating club, and a member of the Editorial Committee of the Cambridge Review of International Affairs.

Mr Latif was a Fulbright Visiting Scholar at Harvard University's Weatherhead Center for International Affairs. A journalist before he joined ISEAS, he worked at The Statesman in Calcutta, Asiaweek in Hong Kong, and the Business Times and The Straits Times in Singapore. He was a Jefferson Fellow at the East-West Center in Hawaii.