

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Pavin Chachavalpongpan is a Fellow in the Regional Strategic and Political Studies Unit (RSPS) and Lead Researcher for Political and Strategic Affairs at the ASEAN Studies Centre, Institute of Southeast Asian Studies, Singapore. A former diplomat, Pavin served with the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of Thailand in many capacities from 1994–2010, including most recently at the Royal Thai Embassy in Singapore. He received his B.A. Honours in International Relations from Chulalongkorn University’s Faculty of Political Science, and his Ph.D. from the Department of Political Studies, School of Oriental and African Studies, University of London. He is the author of A Plastic Nation: The Curse of Thainess in Thai-Burmese Relations (2005), and contributor to five chapters on “Neither Constructive nor Engaging: The Debacle of ASEAN’s Burmese Policy”, in Between Isolation and Internationalisation: The State of Burma (2008); “Thailand”, in Southeast Asia in a New Era: Ten Countries, One Region in ASEAN (2010); “Confusing Democracies: Diagnosing Thailand’s Democratic Crisis 2001–2008”, in Political Change, Democratic Transitions and Security in Southeast Asia (2009); “A Fading Wave, Sinking Tide: A Southeast Asian Perspective on the Korean Wave”, in Korea’s Changing Roles in Southeast Asia: Expanding Influence and Relations (2010); and “Dealing with Burma’s Gordian Knot: Thailand, China, ASEAN and the Burmese Conundrum”, in Myanmar: Prospect for Change (2010). Pavin is also editor of The Road to Ratification and Implementation of the ASEAN Charter (2009), and co-wrote with Moe Thuzar a book titled Myanmar: Life After Nargis (2009). His forthcoming publications include “Thai-Burmese Relations: Old Animosity in a New Bilateral Setting”, in Bilateralism Versus Multilateralism in Southeast Asia; “Thailand: Bending with the (Chinese) Wind?”, in East Asia Facing a Rising China; “Thai Political Parties in the Age of the Great Divide”, in Political Parties, Party System and Democratisation in East Asia; “The Last Bus to Naypyidaw: The Shift in US’s Burma Policy and the Marginalised ASEAN?”, in Myanmar/Burma: Outside Interests and Inside Challenges; and “Temple of Doom: Hysteria about the Preah Vihear Temple in the Thai Nationalist Discourse”, in Legitimacy Crisis and Conflict in Thailand. He is a regular contributor to The Nation, Bangkok Post, Straits Times, South China Morning Post, Japan Times, Korea Herald, OpinionAsia, Asia Sentinel and The Irrawaddy, writing mostly on topic related to Thai and Myanmar politics, nationalism and national identity, Thai foreign policy and international relations in general. His opinion is sought nationally and internationally through interviews with local and international media.