

THE EDITORS

Jacques Pelkmans, Ph. D., is Senior Research Fellow at the Centre of European Policy Studies (CEPS) in Brussels and the Director of EURO-SCOPE. Before 1990 he was Professor of Economics at the European Institute of Public Administration, Maastricht, Netherlands, and, among other things, co-organized its EC-ASEAN programme. He writes on economic integration, EC-1992, trade policies, foreign direct investment, and international business.

Norbert Wagner, Ph. D., is Advisor and Visiting Fellow at the Institute of Southeast Asian Studies, Singapore, and Representative of the Konrad Adenauer Foundation, Federal Republic of Germany. He is on leave from the Department of Economics, South Asia Institute, Heidelberg University. Dr. Wagner's research interests focus on international and development economics.