The Parties shall, in their commercial relations, accord each other most-favoured-nation treatment in accordance with the provisions of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, without prejudice, however, to the provisions of the Protocol annexed to this Agreement.

ARTICLE 2

Commercial Co-operation

1. The Parties undertake to promote the development and diversification of their reciprocal commercial exchange to the highest possible level taking into account their respective economic situations.

2. The Parties agree to study ways and means of overcoming trade barriers, and in particular existing non-tariff and quasi tariff barriers, taking into account the work of international organisations.

3. The Parties shall in accordance with their legislation and in the conduct of their policies:

- (a) co-operate at the international level and between themselves in the solution of commercial problems of common interest including trade related to commodities;
- (b) use their best endeavours to grant each other the widest facilities for commercial transactions;
- (c) take fully into account their respective interests and needs for improved access for manufactured, semi-manufactured and primary products as well as the further processing of resources;
- (d) bring together economic operators in the two regions with the aim of creating new trade patterns;

- (e) study and recommend trade promotion measures likely to encourage the expansion of imports and exports;
- (f) seek insofar as possible the other Parties' views where measures are being considered which could have an adverse effect on trade between the two regions.

ARTICLE 3

Economic Co-operation

1. The Parties, in the light of the complementarity of their interests and of their long-term economic capabilities, shall bring about economic co-operation in all fields deemed suitable by the Parties.

Among the objectives of such co-operation shall be:

- the encouragement of closer economic links through mutually beneficial investment;
- the encouragement of technological and scientific progress;
- the opening up of new sources of supply and new markets;
- the creation of new employment opportunities.

2. As means to such ends, the Parties shall, as appropriate, encourage and facilitate inter alia:

- a continuous exchange of information relevant to economic co-operation as well as the development of contacts and promotion activities between firms and organisations in both regions;
- the fostering, between respective firms, of industrial and technological co-operation, including mining;
- co-operation in the fields of science and technology, energy, environment, transport and communications, agriculture, fisheries and forestry.

In addition the Parties undertake to improve the existing favourable investment climate inter alia through encouraging the extension by and to all Member States of the Community and by and to all countries of ASEAN, of investment promotion and protection arrangements which endeavour to apply the principle of non-discrimination, aim to ensure fair and equitable treatment and reflect the principle of reciprocity.

3. Without prejudice to the relevant provisions of the Treaties establishing the Communities, this Agreement and any action taken thereunder shall in no way affect the powers of any of the Member States of the Communities to undertake bilateral activities with and of the member countries of ASEAN in the field of economic co-operation and conclude, where appropriate, new economic co-operation agreements with these countries.

ARTICLE 4

Development Co-operation

1. The Community recognises that ASEAN is a developing region and will expand its co-operation with ASEAN in order to contribute to ASEAN's efforts in enhancing its self-reliance and economic resilience and social well-being of its peoples through projects to accelerate the development of the ASEAN countries and of the region as a whole.

2. The Community will take all possible measures to intensify its support, within the framework of its programmes in favour of non-associated developing countries, for ASEAN development and regional co-operation.

3. The Community will co-operate with ASEAN to realise concrete projects and programmes, inter alia, food production and supplies, development of the rural sector, education and training facilities and others of a wider character to promote ASEAN regional economic development and co-operation.

4. The Community will seek a co-ordination of the development co-operation activities of the Community and its Member States in the ASEAN region especially in relation to ASEAN regional projects.

5. The Parties shall encourage and facilitate the promotion of co-operation between sources of finance in the two regions.

ARTICLE 5

Joint Co-operation Committee

1. A Joint Co-operation Committee shall be set up to promote and keep under review the various co-operation activities envisaged between the Parties in the framework of the Agreement. Consultations shall be held in the Committee at an appropriate level in order to facilitate the implementation and to further the general aims of this Agreement. The Committee will normally meet at least once a year. Special meetings of the Committee shall be held at the request of either Party.

2. The Joint Co-operation Committee shall adopt its own Rules of Procedure and programme of work.

ARTICLE 6

Other Agreements

Subject to the provisions concerning economic co-operation in Article 3(3), the provisions of this Agreement shall be substituted for provisions of Agreements concluded between Member States of the Communities and Indonesia, Malaysia, Philippines, Singapore, and Thailand to the extent to which the latter provisions are either incompatible with or identical to the former.

ARTICLE 7

Territorial Application

This Agreement shall apply, on the one hand, to the territories in which the Treaty establishing the European Economic Community is applied and under the conditions laid down in that Treaty and, on the other hand, to the territories of Indonesia, Malaysia, Philippines, Singapore, and Thailand.

ARTICLE 8

Duration

1. This Agreement shall enter into force on the first day of the month following the date on which the Parties have notified each other of the completion of the procedures necessary for this purpose, and shall remain in force for an initial period of five years and thereafter for periods of two years subject to the right of either Party to terminate it by written notice given six months before the date of expiry of any period.

2. This Agreement may be amended by mutual consent of the Parties in order to take into account new situations.
