

About the Authors

Bala Baskaran is an independent writer whose current research projects include the Tamil Press in Singapore and Malaya (1875–1941) and the history of Indians in Singapore and Malaya. Before moving to TV Singapore thirty years ago to pursue an editorial career, he lectured at the Indian Studies Department of the University of Malaya. His pioneering book, The Malaysian Tamil Short Stories 1930–1980, was largely based on his Master’s thesis for UM.

Said Abdullah has been a journalist with Singapore Press Holdings for more than three decades. In the first two of those decades, he was honorary secretary of the Inter-Religious Organisation. He has been honorary secretary of the Umar Pulavar Scholarship Fund since its inception in 1985. He has also served on the committees of the Singapore National Union of Journalists and mosques.

Arun Senkuttuvan is a journalist and a former Research Fellow at the Institute of Southeast Asian Studies. Publications he has worked for include Malayan Times, The Straits Times, Singapore Herald, Far Eastern Economic Review, The Economist, Financial Times, Asia Times and The Nation. Books he has edited include four on Hindu temples in Singapore.