Peasant Pedlars and Professional Traders

The Institute of Southeast Asian Studies was established as an autonomous organization in May 1968. It is a regional research centre for scholars and other specialists concerned with modern Southeast Asia, particularly the multi-faceted problems of stability and security, economic development, and political and social change.

The Institute is governed by a twenty-two member Board of Trustees comprising nominees from the Singapore Government, the National University of Singapore, the various Chambers of Commerce, and professional and civic organizations. A ten-man Executive Committee oversees day-to-day operations; it is chaired by the Director, the Institute's chief academic and administrative officer.

Acknowledgements

This study has been generously supported by funds from the Stiftung Volkswagenwerk. We also acknowledge the support of the Indonesian Institute of Sciences (LIPI) with the field-work. We are particularly grateful to members of the staff and postgraduate students of Universitas Sam Ratulangi (UNSRAT), Manado, for their institutional, moral, and practical assistance. Rektor Prof. W.J. Waworoentoe, Dr L. Sondakh, and Drs R. Solangs took much interest in our field-work and extended helpful advice and information. We are glad our research project contributed to further co-operation between UNSRAT and the Sociology of Development Research Centre (SDRC), Bielefeld.

We are most obliged to the people of the village of Kakas who not only provided valuable information but also accepted us with kind hospitality. Special thanks are due to J. Warouw and his family, Pendeta B. Pangaw, Dori Tarandung, P. Polii, A.T. Lakoy, N. Komaling, L. Lumingkewas, E. Palit, and Dole for their understanding, patience, tolerance, and generosity.

On different occasions, the various aspects of the findings were exposed to criticisms by scholars of the SDRC, Bielefeld, and ISEAS, Singapore, and we especially acknowledge critical comments from Dr Diana Wong, Dr S. Siddique, Prof. H.D. Evers, Prof. G. Elwert, Prof. K. Sandhu, and Dr T. Schiel, which caused us to rethink our interpretation. However, we take the responsibility for the final work.

We are also grateful to P. Blank for his diligent cartographic work. Last but not least, we appreciate the effort and patience of Christel Huelsewede in the typing of the manuscript.
