

THE AUTHORS

Dr Lawrence B. Krause is a Professor of the Graduate School of International Relations and Pacific Studies at the University of California, San Diego. He has studied many of the economies of the Pacific Basin when at the Brookings Institution. In 1986 he was a Distinguished Fellow in International Banking and Finance at the Institute of Southeast Asian Studies, Singapore.

Dr Koh Ai Tee is a Lecturer in the Department of Economics and Statistics, National University of Singapore. She obtained her Ph.D. in Economics from the University of Rochester in 1983. Her research interests are in the areas of international trade and finance. She has worked on the theoretical modelling of business cycles and exchange controls, as well as done empirical work on services, industrial and trade co-operation issues in the ASEAN region.

Dr Lee (Tsao) Yuan is also a Lecturer in the Department of Economics and Statistics, National University of Singapore. She is a Harvard (1982) graduate and has done research on productivity and macro-economic management in the Singapore economy as well as trade in services and capital flows in the ASEAN region.