The Institute of Southeast Asian Studies (ISEAS) was established as an autonomous organization in 1968. It is a regional research centre for scholars and other specialists concerned with modern Southeast Asia, particularly the many-faceted problems of stability and security, economic development, and political and social change.

The Institute's research programmes are the Regional Economic Studies Programme (RES), Regional Strategic and Political Studies Programme (RSPP), Regional Social and Cultural Studies Programme (RSCS), and the Indochina Programme (ICP).

The Institute is governed by a twenty-two-member Board of Trustees comprising nominees from the Singapore Government, the National University of Singapore, the various Chambers of Commerce, and professional and civic organizations. A ten-man Executive Committee oversees day-to-day operations; it is chaired by the Director, the Institute's chief academic and administrative officer.

The ASEAN Economic Research Unit, within the RES, is an integral part of the Institute, coming under the overall supervision of the Director, who is also the Chairperson of its Management Committee. The Unit was formed in 1979 in response to the need to deepen understanding of economic change and political developments in ASEAN. A Regional Advisory Committee, consisting of a senior economist from each of the ASEAN countries, guides the work of the Unit.

Acknowledgements

The ten articles in this volume are obtained essentially from two sources:

- those prepared by Heinz Arndt, Mohamed Ariff, and Toh Mun-Heng are revised versions of papers first presented at the ASEAN Roundtable: The Deepening and Widening of ASEAN in the Post-Cold War Era, 22–23 September 1994, in Singapore.
- the other contributions from Robert Curry, Jr; Prema-Chandra Athukorala and Jayant Menon; Kunio Igusa and Hiromitsu Shimada; Michael Plummer and Pearl Imada-Iboshi; Francisco de A. Nadal De Simone; Suthiphand Chirathivat; and Peter Lloyd are solicited specially for this volume.

We are particularly indebted to these friends and colleagues for graciously volunteering time and effort in preparing these papers. We are, indeed, most grateful for their scholarly service and encouragement. Together they share the belief that this is a worthwhile endeavour in the light of the importance of AFTA and the Fifth ASEAN Summit in Bangkok in December 1995. We hope the issues and substantive coverage on the subject matter of this volume are helpful to the discussions and debate on AFTA in the midst of the rapidly changing world economy.
