

About the Author

Ross Garnaut is Professor of Economics in the Research School of Pacific and Asian Studies at the Australian National University. He has been a central figure in the discussion of Asia-Pacific economic co-operation since the 1970s. His research interests are focused on economic development and international economic relations in East Asia and the Pacific. Recent books include The Third Revolution in the Chinese Countryside (Cambridge University Press, 1996) and, with Peter Drysdale, Asia Pacific Regionalism: Readings in International Economic Relations (Harper Educational, 1994)