

Insurgent Intellectual

The Strategic and Defence Studies Centre (SDSC) in the School of International, Political and Strategic Studies, College of Asia and the Pacific, at the Australian National University, is Australia's leading centre for the study of strategic, defence and wider security issues. SDSC conducts research and teaching on the role of armed force in international affairs, especially as it affects Australia and its region. It aims to use good scholarship to illuminate strategic and defence policy questions faced by Australia and other countries. Its research therefore seeks to contribute to policy and public debates as much as to academic discourse. SDSC's research and teaching priorities are the conceptual and historical foundations of strategy and policy, global and Asian regional developments that shape Australia's strategic environment, and Australia's defence policy, strategic posture, military capabilities and operations.

The Institute of Southeast Asian Studies (ISEAS) was established as an autonomous organisation in 1968. It is a regional research centre dedicated to the study of socio-political, security and economic trends and developments in Southeast Asia and its wider geostrategic and economic environments. In addition to stimulating research and debate within scholarly circles, ISEAS endeavours to enhance public awareness of the region and facilitate the search for viable solutions to the varied problems confronting the region.

ISEAS Publishing, an established academic press, has issued more than 2,000 books and journals. It is the largest scholarly publisher of research about Southeast Asia from within the region. ISEAS Publishing works with many other academic and trade publishers and distributors to disseminate important research and analyses from and about Southeast Asia to the rest of the world.

Insurgent Intellectual

Essays in Honour of Professor Desmond Ball

EDITED BY

BRENDAN TAYLOR
NICHOLAS FARRELLY
SHERYN LEE

INSTITUTE OF SOUTHEAST ASIAN STUDIES

Singapore

First published in Singapore in 2012 by
ISEAS Publishing
Institute of Southeast Asian Studies
30 Heng Mui Keng Terrace
Pasir Panjang
Singapore 119614

E-mail: publish@iseas.edu.sg
Website: <http://bookshop.iseas.edu.sg>

All rights reserved. No part of this publication may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted in any form or by any means, electronic, mechanical, photocopying, recording or otherwise, without the prior permission of the Institute of Southeast Asian Studies.

© 2012 Institute of Southeast Asian Studies, Singapore

The responsibility for facts and opinions in this publication rests exclusively with the authors and their interpretations do not necessarily reflect the views or the policy of the publishers or their supporters.

---

ISEAS Library Cataloguing-in-Publication Data

---

Insurgent intellectual : essays in honour of Professor Desmond Ball / edited by Brendan Taylor, Nicholas Farrelly and Sheryn Lee.

1. Security, International.
2. Security, International—Pacific Area.
3. Australia—Strategic aspects.
4. Australia—Defenses.
5. Australia—Military policy.
6. Nuclear warfare—Prevention.
- I. Taylor, Brendan, 1974–
- II. Farrelly, Nicholas.
- III. Lee, Sheryn.

JZ5588 I59

2012

ISBN 978-981-4414-62-3 (soft cover)

ISBN 978-981-4414-64-7 (PDF)

---

Typeset by Superskill Graphics Pte Ltd
Printed in Singapore by Mainland Press Pte Ltd

CONTENTS

The Contributors	vii
Acknowledgements	ix
Introduction
1. Introducing the insurgent intellectual Brendan Taylor, Nicholas Farrelly and Sheryn Lee	3
2. From the beginning Robert O'Neill	8
Global Strategy
3. Nuclear war and crisis stability President Jimmy Carter	17
4. Our first obligation Brad Glosserman and Ralph Cossa	19
5. Shining a light on the world's eavesdroppers Jeffrey T. Richelson	30
6. Controlling nuclear war Robert Ayson	43
7. Avoiding Armageddon Ron Huiskens	57
Asia-Pacific Security
8. Challenging the establishment Alexander Downer	69

9.	Rumblings in regional security architecture Pauline Kerr	75
10.	Constructive criticism and Track 2 diplomacy Brian L. Job and Anthony Milner	88
11.	Gazing down at the breakers Euan Graham	112
12.	A regional arms race? Tim Huxley	122
13.	Securing a new frontier in mainland Southeast Asia Nicholas Farrelly	132
14.	“Big Brain” on the border Phil Thornton	147
	Australian Strategic and Defence Policy
15.	A national asset Kim Beazley	165
16.	The defence of Australia Ross Babbage and J. O. Langtry	175
17.	American bases in Australia revisited Richard Tanter	191
18.	Cyber security and the online challenge Gary Waters	212
19.	Pressing the Issue Hamish McDonald	222
	Bibliography	231

CONTRIBUTORS

Robert Ayson is Head of the Centre for Strategic Studies at Victoria University of Wellington.

Ross Babbage is founder of the Kokoda Foundation and Managing Director of Strategy International (ACT).

Ambassador Kim Beazley is the Australian Ambassador to the United States of America and former Australian Minister for Defence.

President Jimmy Carter is former President of the United States of America and founder of The Carter Centre.

Ralph Cossa is CSIS Trustee at Pacific Forum, Center for Strategic and International Studies.

Alexander Downer is former Australian Minister for Foreign Affairs and Visiting Professor of Politics and Trade at the University of Adelaide.

Nicholas Farrelly is a Research Fellow at the School of International, Political and Strategic Studies at the Australian National University.

Brad Glosserman is Executive Director at Pacific Forum, Center for Strategic and International Studies.

Euan Graham is Senior Fellow at the S. Rajaratnam School of International Studies, Singapore.

Ron Huisken is Senior Fellow at the Strategic and Defence Studies Centre at the Australian National University.

Tim Huxley is Executive Director at the International Institute for Strategic Studies — Asia, Singapore.

Brian L. Job is Professor of Political Science and Director of the Security and Defence Program of the Center of International Relations at the University of British Columbia.

Pauline Kerr is former Director of Studies at the Asia-Pacific College of Diplomacy at the Australian National University.

Lt. Col. J. O. Langtry is former Executive Officer at the Strategic and Defence Studies Centre at the Australian National University.

Sheryn Lee is a Ph.D. student in Political Science at the School of Arts and Sciences, University of Pennsylvania.

Hamish McDonald is a journalist for Fairfax Media.

Anthony Milner is Basham Professor of History at the School of Culture, History and Language at the Australian National University.

Robert O'Neill is former Chichele Professor of the History of War at the University of Oxford.

Jeffrey T. Richelson is Senior Fellow at the National Security Archive.

Richard Tanter is Senior Research Associate at the Nautilus Institute.

Brendan Taylor is Head of the Strategic and Defence Studies Centre at the Australian National University.

Phil Thornton is an independent journalist.

Gary Waters is Head of Strategy at Jacobs Australia.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Producing an edited volume to mark Professor Desmond Ball's 25th year as a Special Professor at the Australian National University (ANU) has been a tremendous honour. We will be forever impressed by the devotion of Des' collaborators, co-authors and contemporaries to the tasks of writing their chapters and providing other assistance. Through our editorial responsibilities we came to know Des in a new light and hope that the chapters presented here adequately reflect the simply remarkable career of Australia's home-grown Strategic Studies giant. Des has friends all over the world and many played a role in making this volume possible. From Wellington to Washington, and Mae Sai to Melbourne, they have jostled to be part of Des' story.

A volume of this magnitude also required significant institutional support from across the ANU. The College of Asia and the Pacific, the School of International, Political and Strategic Studies, and the Strategic and Defence Studies Centre, have provided the intellectual and logistical space for this volume. Colleagues from across these enmeshed academic units, especially Professor Paul Hutchcroft, Professor Andrew MacIntyre and Professor Hugh White, were early and enthusiastic supporters of a festschrift to mark Des' contribution to the university. Along with Paul Hutchcroft, Emeritus Professor Paul Dibb, Professor William Tow and Professor Robert Ayson — each longstanding friends and colleagues of Des — have provided invaluable guidance and advice along the way. We are also indebted to Darren Boyd, James Giggacher, Raoul Heinrichs, Ingram Niblock and Sarah Norgrove for their exemplary support as we have finalised this manuscript for publication, and to Olivia Cable for her superb stewardship of the logistics related to this and so many other projects.

It is a little known fact that Des arrived in Canberra as a teenager, relishing the opportunity to test himself against Australia's best and brightest. And now, after more than four decades, here he enters a new stage in his great Australian romance with this great Australian institution. For Des, the ANU is home and we hope this volume appropriately recognises the institution's affection for one of its most famous sons.

The Institute of Southeast Asian Studies (ISEAS) has also proved a worthy partner in the publication of this volume. It is especially appropriate that we thank Triena Ong and Rahilah Yusuf for their support as we progressed towards completion of this volume to a standard befitting the scholar whose work it honours.

A further note of thanks is due to the subject of this book himself. We are delighted that he agreed to a volume that recognises his impeccable service to Strategic Studies, the Asia-Pacific region and the Australian community. His good humour as we went about the quiet task of editing this volume deserves our thanks.

Finally, we want to acknowledge Des' family — Annabel, Katie, Matthew and James — for their gracious support of such a unique man. We appreciate that life with someone as busy and talented as Des is not always easy. It is with them that we share Des. We hope that in the words of this volume they can further appreciate his career and the overwhelming respect of his grateful academic friends.

*Brendan, Nicholas, Sheryn
Canberra
November 2012*