

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Puangthong R. Pawakapan is Associate Professor in the International Relations Department, Chulalongkorn University. Her academic expertise is in the field of Southeast Asian Studies with special interest in the political relationship between Thailand and Cambodia. Political violence is also part of her interest. Puangthong was a Shorenstein APARC/Asia Foundation research fellow for 2010–11 at the Shorenstein Asia Pacific Research Center, Stanford University, where she worked on this book. Between May 1998–July 1999, she was a research affiliate at the Cambodian Genocide Program, Yale University, where she researched on “Thailand’s response to the Cambodian Genocide”, in Genocide in Cambodia and Rwanda: New Perspectives (2004 and 2006). She has a BA in Political Science from Thammasat University, Thailand and a Ph.D. in History from the University of Wollongong in Australia.