

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Tilak K. Doshi is Senior Research Fellow at the King Abdullah Petroleum Studies and Research Center (KAPSARC) in Riyadh, Saudi Arabia. Prior to his current position, Dr Doshi was Chief Economist at the Energy Studies Institute of the National University of Singapore. Dr Doshi is an industry expert with over twenty-five years of international experience in leading oil and gas companies. Previously, he had been Executive Director of Energy at the Dubai Multi Commodities Centre (DMCC). Prior to joining DMCC, he worked as a Specialist Consultant for Saudi Aramco in its crude marketing and corporate planning departments. He has also held senior positions as Director of Industry Analysis at the Atlantic Richfield Company (ARCO) in Los Angeles, as Chief Asia Economist at Unocal Corporation (Los Angeles and Singapore) and as Head of Research, Louis Dreyfus Energy Asia (Singapore). He received his PhD in Economics (East-West Center/University of Hawai'i) on a scholarship provided by the U.S. government. He was a recipient of the Robert S. McNamara Research Fellowship 1984 awarded by the World Bank, Washington, DC. He is the author of Houston of Asia: The Singapore Petroleum Industry, a monograph published jointly by the East-West Centre (Honolulu) and the Institute of Southeast Asian Studies (1989).