

The Author

Charnvit Kasetsiri, born 1941, is a Professor Emeritus of Thammasat University, Bangkok, Thailand. He is a prominent historian and a Thai Studies scholar. After obtaining his bachelor's degree in Diplomacy with Honours from Thammasat in 1963, he pursued his 1967 MA in Diplomacy and World Affairs at Occidental College, Los Angeles, California, under a Rockefeller scholarship and his 1972 PhD in Southeast Asian History at Cornell University, New York.

His thesis, The Rise of Ayudhya and a History of Siam in the 14th and 15th Centuries, was published by Oxford in Asia in 1976. He served as Lecturer of History at Thammasat from 1973 to 2001 and founded, in 2000, the Southeast Asian Studies Program. He was the President of Thammasat University in 1995–96. He has written approximately 200 articles and a few publications on Thai and Southeast Asian History. He has launched a “Siam Not Thailand” campaign to rename the country to reflect the reality about its ethnics, languages and cultural identities.

His late works deal with questions of war and peace and good ASEAN neighbour relations, especially between Thailand and Cambodia. He is a co-author with Pavin Chachavalpongpun and Pou Sothirak, Preah Vihear: A Guide to the Thai-Cambodian Conflict and Its Solutions (Bangkok, 2013). See also his Studies in Thai and Southeast Asian Histories (Bangkok, 2015).

Charnvit has been awarded a Fukuoka Academic Prize 2012, Japan, and the Distinguished Contributions to Asian Studies (DCAS) 2014 by the Association for Asian Studies, USA.
