Preface

This issue, Volume 9, Number 2, has been designated a Special Focus issue in order to publish some of the papers presented recently at the conference on “ASEAN in the 1990s” that was organized by the Malaysian International Affairs Forum (MIAF), a private non-profit and non-governmental body which has as its objectives the promotion of the study and research in the field of international affairs, with specific reference to Southeast Asia and particularly Malaysia, and the provision of an avenue for persons interested in international affairs to exchange ideas. The papers have been specially selected and edited by Dr Zakaria Haji Ahmad, President of the MIAF, and we are grateful to him for his interest and efforts in reminding us of the importance of ASEAN as it enters its twentieth year of existence — a remarkable regional achievement by any standards.

CONTRIBUTIONS

Contributions for articles are invited. Articles should be on contemporary Southeast Asian problems in the political, economic, social, and technological innovative fields. They should be between 3,500 and 5,500 words in length. The presentation should be readable and not too technical. Relevant citations, footnotes, and quotations should be at the minimum essential for scholarly analysis or description. It should be noted that contributions to the Journal are refereed. The Journal appears quarterly in March, June, September, and December. Manuscripts, in typescript, double-spaced, and in two copies, should be submitted to:
