The editors invite submission of manuscripts (between 6,000–8,000 words, including endnotes) on subjects within the field of politics and strategic and international affairs as they impinge on the Southeast Asian and wider Asia-Pacific geographical region. Manuscripts should be double-spaced and submitted in duplicate, together with an abstract of approximately 125 words, and should be accompanied by a computer diskette. Citations should be made in the author-date style, with full references, and endnotes where appropriate. CSEA does not accept manuscripts that have already been published or are being considered for publication elsewhere. Manuscripts will be refereed by external readers.

Address for submission of manuscripts:

Memorial Prize

for the best article published in

- ASEAN Economic Bulletin
- Contemporary Southeast Asia
- Sojourn: Social Issues in Southeast Asia

The Michael Leifer Memorial Prize is awarded by the Institute of Southeast Asian Studies (ISEAS) in memory of the late Michael Leifer (1933–2001), Professor Emeritus in International Relations at the London School of Economics and Political Science and the founding Director of the School's Asia Research Centre.

Professor Leifer has rightly been described as the doyen of Southeast Asian Studies. He wrote and edited over 20 books and published over 150 scholarly articles on the international relations and domestic politics of Southeast Asia. His analysis of contemporary regional developments reached a worldwide audience through his regular broadcasts over the BBC. At the LSE he nurtured a generation of Southeast Asianists from all over the world, most significantly from Southeast Asia itself. Many of them became prominent in academe, think-tanks, media and government. His encyclopaedic knowledge of the region was masterfully displayed in his Dictionary of the Modern Politics of Southeast Asia, which has gone through three editions. During one of his sojourns at ISEAS he brought his editorial skills to bear on the speedy publication of David Marshall's Letters from Mao's China. Professor Leifer's last book, Singapore's Foreign Policy: Coping with Vulnerabilities, remains an unrivalled study on Singapore, the place that was his first steppingstone in a lifetime of academic journeying into Southeast Asian Studies.

Professor Leifer first visited Singapore in 1963 as a young lecturer from the University of Adelaide. During a professional life spanning nearly 40 years he paid numerous visits to Singapore where his considered views and analysis were much sought after by academics, the media and policy-makers alike. Appointed Senior Professorial Fellow at ISEAS between 1995 and 1997, he made many valuable contributions to the work of the Institute. He also served on the international advisory committee for Contemporary Southeast Asia, a major journal of ISEAS.

In recognition of Professor Leifer's valuable contributions to scholarship in Southeast Asian Studies and the unstinting encouragement he gave to aspiring young scholars in the field, ISEAS is instituting the Michael Leifer Memorial Prize. An award of S$3,000 will be given biennially for the best article published in one of ISEAS' three journals namely, the ASEAN Economic Bulletin, Contemporary Southeast Asia and Sojourn: Social Issues in Southeast Asia. A Prize Committee, made up of the editors of the three journals, eminent scholars, and the Director of ISEAS, will be tasked with selecting the article on the basis of its analytical rigour, conceptual clarity and soundness, and general contribution to Southeast Asian scholarship.

The first prize will be awarded in 2005 based on articles published in 2003 and 2004.

Contemporary Southeast Asia is an internationally refereed journal that specializes in the politics, international relations and security-related issues of Southeast Asia and its wider geostrategic environment. Apart from serving as a reliable and up-to-date source of information on various events and trends in regional politics, international relations and security questions that affect Southeast Asia, CSEA also publishes the results of original research on these subjects by both scholars and other interested persons.
