BANK INDONESIA AND THE CRISIS

The Institute of Southeast Asian Studies (ISEAS) was established as an autonomous organization in 1968. It is a regional centre dedicated to the study of socio-political, security and economic trends and developments in Southeast Asia and its wider geostrategic and economic environment.

The Institute's research programmes are the Regional Economic Studies (RES, including ASEAN and APEC), Regional Strategic and Political Studies (RSPS), and Regional Social and Cultural Studies (RSCS).

ISEAS Publications, an established academic press, has issued more than 1,000 books and journals. It is the largest scholarly publisher of research about Southeast Asia from within the region. ISEAS Publications works with many other academic and trade publishers and distributors to disseminate important research and analyses from and about Southeast Asia to the rest of the world.

Acknowledgements

Many individuals have been instrumental in providing me with generous support, advice and assistance that helped this long-drawn endeavour get started, proceed and finally completed. I would like to express my deep gratitude to all friends and colleagues who contributed one way or another to inspiring, pushing and encouraging me to write and publish this book. They are too many to list individually. However, it is my honour to specifically thank the following persons and institutions that have contributed to the completion of this book:

- The late Professor Sumitro Djojohadikusumo who gave me moral and intellectual support from the start, during the writing process as well as the finishing of the Bahasa Indonesia version.
- The then Director of the Institute of Southeast Asian Studies (ISEAS), Professor Chia Siow Yue, and Ambassador Kesavapany, the current ISEAS Director; Professor Jeffrey Sachs at the now defunct Harvard Institute of International Development (HIID); and Ambassador Barry Desker, at the Institute of Defence and Strategic Studies (IDSS) for generously inviting me to join their respective institutions as a Visiting Fellow to research and write this manuscript and other papers.
- My colleagues and friends at Bank Indonesia, the former managing directors, directors and staff who participated in the thinking and formulating of policies within Bank Indonesia through countless board meetings, morning and evening calls, steering committee and other meetings, especially immediately before and during the crisis.
- Colleagues and friends in the three prestigious research institutions that bore with me in the last several years, sharing ideas at seminars and conferences.

- My anonymous referees; the ISEAS Head of Publications, Triena Ong; and my editor, Dayaneetha De Silva.
- Since February 2001 up to the completion of this English edition I have been Visiting Senior Research Fellow with ISEAS, while the rewriting has been done at the IDSS. Both institutions provided me with an intellectual environment, excellent libraries and the necessary wherewithal during my research and writing.
- I received grants from the Ford Foundation, New York while working as Development Associate at the HIID and OPO-JFK School of Government, Harvard University from 1998–2000 while working on the Bahasa Indonesia version of the book.

I know that I will never be able to thank enough those closest to me during the agonizing period of the crisis and our lives afterward, including countless stressful days and nights in the last six years. These are my wife Bianti, my two sons Tommy and Budi, and my daughter-in-law Mulan in more recent years, plus my little grandson Mazel, together with close relatives and friends, whose love, affection and support have become my pillar of strength to work and finish the manuscript in periods that have been tinted with distractions from our normal lives.
